

N. Y. LEGISLATORS AROUSSED TO NEED OF DRASTIC MILK LAWS

commission shall ascertain the fair cost of not alone the production of milk but the sale and distribution of milk. The farmer is therefore being misled, because he is guaranteed by the proposed law a price which will cover not only his actual expenses but a reasonable profit. Of course the distributors are alarmed because their profits may be curtailed. This was clearly evidenced by Mr. Miller, the attorney for the Dairywomen's League, who, in answer to my question at the hearing, admitted that the price of milk, particularly in New York City, is regulated mainly by the demand for same and not so much by the actual cost to obtain and deliver the milk. Both of these bills should become law.

Assemblyman Caesar B. F. Barry—I am unequivocally in favor of any legislation which has for its aim the alleviation of the suffering caused to the innocent poor as a result of ever soaring prices of milk. The price of this necessary commodity must be brought down within the reach of every person. It is a duty devolving upon the Legislature to do everything within its power to effect this result.

Senator Peter A. Abelen—I supported both the Thompson bill under consideration last week. Whenever the bill creating a commission for the regulating of the price of milk, from the producer to the consumer, is urged this week it will have my support. I am confident that such a regulation of the price will be the means of protecting the public and securing a proper return to the producer as well as to the distributor. Milk is so essential to the very life of the community that the laws should be such as to protect the people from possible avarice on the part of any one man or group of men, thus preventing the steady flow of the necessary supplies of this most essential of foods. The Evening World deserves the highest praise for its active support of these measures and in behalf of the people of the 22d Senate District, which I represent, I desire to tender you the most sincere thanks for your efforts.

SENATOR MILLER WILL "GO THE LIMIT" IN MILK LEGISLATION.

Senator Julius Miller, 17th District, Manhattan—certainly will support the third milk bill, as I did the other two. I voted to discharge the committee from further consideration of the two bills and voted for the first, which was the only one to come out of the committee. You can go as far as you like in quoting me in staying with the next all through.

Assemblyman Samuel Dickstein—My position on the Thompson milk bill, aiming to regulate the distribution of milk, is in harmony with the intent of the law, which will once and for all guarantee to the people of the City of New York, through the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, the sale of good, wholesome milk at a fair price; the people who, more or less, have been deprived of such production for some time by some unscrupulous persons whose main ambition was to boost prices, which, more or less, comes out of the poor people. I shall support such a bill and also support the accompanying bill authorizing the State Milk Commission, which shall give it absolute control of the production, transportation, distribution and sale of milk as well as the fixing of the prices to be charged for milk.

Assemblyman William C. Ames—In my opinion it is a paramount duty of the Legislature to confer upon New York City adequate power to create, control and regulate the production, distribution and price of all necessities of life when individuals as such or as partners or corporations dealing in such articles become unable or unwilling to meet in an efficient and honest manner the needs of the people. Therefore I favor granting power to New York City under present emergency to handle its milk, transportation, rent, housing, telephone and other kindred problems.

KRYSTALAK

Better for cooking than fluid milk

Dr. Wiley, of Good Housekeeping Institute, endorses Krystalak.

Use it just as you would liquid milk. Four level tablespoons to a cup of water, or a cupful to a quart. Stir it for a second—it dissolves instantly—and there
you have uniform guaranteed
clean skimmed milk—for any cooking purpose.

THINK of a milk that never sours—that needs no ice to keep it sweet and fresh—that does not have to be stopped up in bottles or in tin cans, but can be opened a thousand times if need be—till all is used.

Think of a milk that is always ready, day or night, on your pantry shelf—for any milk emergency.

Think of a milk which is so economical that milk bills no longer worry.

Think of a milk which has all these blessings and then is nourishing —wholesome—containing no foreign substances, no adulterants.

Think of these things and you think of Krystalak, for Krystalak is sweet, wholesome separated milk dried to pure crystals of sparkling whiteness. It is rich in the essential elements that produce heat energy and restore wasted tissues of the body.
